Dear Parents and Carers,

Anti-bullying Week 2025

Next week, Monday 10th November – Friday 14th November, is Anti-Bullying week. This is a national event to promote and continue to deter all forms of bullying. The theme of this week is 'the power for good'. This theme is designed to further promote the need to ensure that bullying in all places is reported and swiftly dealt with: promoting standing up to bullying. To support this theme, all staff and children are being encouraged to wear odd socks as a symbol of standing up for the diverse nature of people, their likes, dislikes and personal choices.

Throughout next week, there will be a range of activities for both children and parents to take part in. Monday 10th November is Odd Sock Day. Children and staff are invited to wear the oddest and most diverse socks that they have to school on that day. Parents, we would love for you to take part too. Throughout the week, children can wear odd socks each day if they choose to do so.

Competitions:

We are running a competition; we want you, parents, carers and children, to take a photo of yourself in your odd socks, in the oddest (most unusual) place you can find. We would love you to share these photos with us in order to highlight how our whole community is behind the anti-bullying campaign. Please email photos to the school office office@kingfisher.ppat365.org. There will be prizes for the winning photo in each class.

We are looking forward to sharing the week with both our children and their parents. If you have any questions, please contact your child's class teacher.

With best wishes,

Mr Dan Glentworth
Head teacher
